

GOALS

The idea is important because the majority of Chicagoans only enjoy the weather for three months of the year and complain about the rest.

My project will solve people's lack of appreciation for Chicago's environment.

The project will be successful by exposing Chicagoans to reasons to love every season.

The idea is important because Chicago is an incredible place all year round. (I think this is the best one)

The idea is important because Chicago experiences every weather condition yet only activates during one.
